Our Street Pavement

EDITOR OREGONIAN

A stranger visiting our city can but be impressed with the idea that there is a very commendable degree of zeal shown on the score of street improvement. The amount of work done is immense and the disposition shown both by those instituting and necessitating such improvement and by the property holders who acquiesce and co operate in the execution of such work is commendable. The energies expended and the disposition to do would be a credit to older, larger and more boastful communities than that of Portland.

But, it is well to inquire are these energies and lavish means rightly expended? They are not be. We do not assert that they are not, mainly for the reason that such an assertion would bring a storm of obloquy and indignant denial upon the one who dared to oppose preconceived and interested opinions. It is dangerous to wound one's conceit on the score of street improvement as any other branch of knowledge. We will, however, advance a few observations, to be taken for what they are worth, asserting a few positive opinions in conflict with those of others, as the nature of the case will admit. If these lead to discussion correct conclusion and action, the end will be obtained.

Our prime necessity in the way of public improvement is good, or at least decent passable streets. The question is not now, shall they be paved at all, but, what is the best and most desirable pavement to use? The preponderance of intelligent sentiment we believe favors the Nicolson, and in accordance with such we start in and commence the laying on a portion of one of our main thoroughfares the so-called Nicolson Pavement. I say "so-called," because it is not clear to my mind that we have a Nicolson amongst us. Bourbon we doubtless have, the other, doubtful. It would be well to find out the exact requirements and claims of the Nicolson patent. Does, or does it not necessitate the covering of each separate piece of wood used in its construction with asphaltum or other preservative matter. If it does, then plainly the pavement laid down in our streets is a bilk, and ought not to be tolerated. If it do not necessitate any such covering as a preservative from decay and its attendant evils, then we assert that the invention is defective, wherein it will not [illegible] not give a lasting pavement. And we will further suggest that if the Nicolson patent does not call for a preservative covering to every piece of the material, then any person making a pavement embodying all of its essential features and in addition using a preservative covering generally, or, over all its parts would not be infringing on the patent right of the Nicolson

I hope that this patent does claim this very important point, for otherwise it is a goodly invention, and its inventor has, in its main features, brought before the world, for its use, a highly useful and nearly perfect form of pavement. He is thus a benefactor to his race.

That principle of the Nicolson, which gives a good foundation to the pavement as it superstructure is a splendid one. With durability it is the desideratum of all pavements. Too much cannot be said in its favor on this score, and as it seems proven that it is durable, with its other excellencies, we believe it to be the most perfect form of pavement that has been invented, or will be for the next hundred years to come. But how the pavement being laid in our streets can be durable is a problem we are unable to solve. The foundation planks are not, as they should be, seasoned, neither we believe is any of the wooden material. The coating (poorly applied) is thin and volatile—a mixture of coal tar and asphaltum, the percentage of the latter being very small. True, coal tar is cheap, but it will occur even to a very dull [illegible] that a material having more body, with [illegible] properties, as, say, [illegible] tar, and is [illegible] should be wholly [illegible]

The same [illegible] the covering of the board [illegible] with a preservative (only a little more [illegible] the coating of the blocks and [illegible] structure. Forming, as the first [illegible] the body of the pave, subject to the [illegible] wear and tear of use, their [illegible] and due care should be had in laying them down. The same decaying [illegible] which operate on the planking, [illegible] and yet they are not covered. [illegible] that the slight [illegible] poured over them [illegible] in the "grooving" and on the [illegible] ends, retain a "shed" preventing the [illegible] down and [illegible] is simple folly, and as little [illegible] a demonstration as that a seive will hold water. The stones so sedulously hammer [illegible] need the tar far less than do the [illegible] Every piece of board should be dipped in boiling asphaltum

The fir board employed is not objectional. Properly prepared, it is as lasting as the pine which has so stood the test in the East—a climatic test equally severe as any here. The soil of Chicago is fully as moist as ours of Portland. The fir is the superior of the pine on the score of hardness and a resistant to wear and tear

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

THURSDAY MORNING, SEPT. , 1865

The Only Question

A vast majority of our loyal citizens have decided that slavery, the cause of all our former political disasters and finally of the great rebellion, [illegible] our Government shall [illegible] to exist. On the other hand there are those who, notwithstanding the vile institution has received a staggering blow, are equally determined [illegible] their combined might can accomplish to reestablish it and to fortify it against the assaults of its enemies, first by political chicane and afterwards by Constitutional guarantees and legal enactments. With such the inviolability of slavery long has been, and is to this day, the only point worthy of notice in their political creed. The lauded but false doctrine of State rights has been made use of for thirty years mainly because the party which adopted it supposed that in one way or another it would subserve the interests of slavery. Now that secession is defeated the doctrine is applied to scarcely any other purpose than that of showing that slavery [illegible] to be removed out of the way. The only political issue which a large but quite disorganized party now makes is against the final abolition of the hate engendering and war breeding institution. In the minds of a multitude, how to preserve the system is paramount to any other consideration. The only political question which such persons undertake to consider is How can slavery best be re-established and maintained? In reality minor questions which some now seem disposed to put forward, are entirely aside from the true subject of debate. The persistence of the devotees of slavery in their present course makes it necessary for all who oppose them to keep steadily in view the great object yet to be attained, namely, the enactment of the proposed Constitutional Amendment. This is the only "issue" now before the country. The rest are figments and shams.

A few members of the old Democratic party may say that they desire slavery to be abolished in the way which is proposed, but it remains a fact that the influence of the party as a whole has been uniformly thrown against the Amendment. In New Jersey, Delaware and Kentucky ratification has been refused by a strictly partisan vote. The "Democratic" legislators of the States have voted almost to man against the Amendment. In several States the question has been directly before the people, in that they have been called on to choose Legislatures solely in reference to it. It is almost needless to observe that the "Democratic" vote in every instance, has gone against the proposition. The two parties then, stand directly opposed to each other in relation to this great question. Hence here is what politicians call an "issue." No subject of equal importance, save that of national preservation against the wicked efforts of traitors, has ever before invited the attention of our people.

Now that the Government is in no immediate danger of being overthrown by the attacks of those who tried to destroy it, the next great question is on the abolition of slavery. Through the greater part of the South there are no slaves even now, but the Amendment must be ratified in order that the relics of the institution may disappear from Kentucky and Delaware. The Constitutional Amendment is the great, and indeed the only question now immediately before the people of the whole country.

Death of the Governor of Idaho.—The Idaho World of August 26th gives an account of the death of C. DeWitt Smith, Secretary of the Territory, and late Acting Governor, at Rocky Bar on the 19th of August, after an illness of but a few minutes. The World says he was a young man of promise, and had made many warm personal friends since his arrival. He first brought his name permanently before the public in connection with the part taken by him in removing the Capital archives to Boise City. The Territory is now left without either Governor or Secretary. Governor Smith was a native of New York—was educated for the bar, but we believe had never practiced any, having spent several years as Clerk of one of the departments at Washington.

A Splenetic Tool.—P[illegible] Etheridge was recently arrested in Tennessee for counseling resistance to the laws of that State. He was placed in confinement at Columbus, Ky., by order of the President. A few days after his incarceration he wrote a most insulting "open letter" to Mr President Johnson,—a letter which for impudence falsehood and asininity, may be placed at the head of this class of productions, and Etheridge is wholly demented and deserves an asylum rather than a prison.

Dolorous.—The New York News feels bad. It has been its misfortune, as it supposes, to have fallen on evil and degenerate days. Its cry is: Eheu! Alas! Would that! &c. Take this wail as an indication of its unhappiness:

Oh! for the re-erection in our code of morals of the good old spirit of Southern or of Northern, of Saxon or of Norman, or any other type of that exploded folly, which now, in contrast with the baseness of its successor, rises out before all men into the true grandeur of chivalry."

The Albany Journal says the work on the Willamette Valley and Cascade Mountain Road is progressing rapidly. Within two or three weeks the road will be open for wagons all the way through the mountains.

Owyhee Items.—We glean from the Owyhee Avalanche of the 26th the following:

On the 22d day of July, Wells Fargo & Co. opened an office in this place and up to August 22d, had shipped two hundred and five pounds of bullion valued at $14,371 71 and gold dust and bars to the amount of $13,372 60. We will state here that this showing does not amount to one half of the bullion and dust shipped from this place during the month named, as a very large per cent has been taken away by private parties who have been traveling to and fro, and made no record of the amount taken. There is also a considerable amount now on hand waiting to be sent off.

The Flint District is situated about twelve miles south of this place, in the southeastern range of the Jordan Creek mountains on B[illegible] creek and was formed about a year ago. From reliable sources we learn that from forty to fifty men are now prospecting in that section and have discovered altogether in the district up to this time, about twenty good reliable lodges. The lodges are said to be large but not as rich as those in this district.

Up to Wednesday last eighteen wagons had arrived with machinery for new quartz mills, and [illegible] ten more were yet back, containing the [illegible] shipment consisting of some 10,000 pounds of extra freight—cams, boxing, etc.—which will be kept on hand for use in case of the breaking of any piece of machinery. This machinery was shipped by way of Umatilla, Oregon.

The New Code.—While in Portland the other day we were afforded an opportunity to examine the new Code as far as the same has been printed. After a very careful examination of that which is now printed we hesitate not to say that if the job is completed as it is now commenced that it will be one of the best printed law books we have ever seen, and that in point of arrangement and completeness it will be surpassed by none. It is but simple justice to the Code Commissioner to say that he has worked hard on the work and that the benefits of his labor is manifest on every page. Every source of authority has been explored in order to make all the historical and legal references as correct as possible, and lawyers will frequently have occasion to thank the Commissioner for saving them many hours of weary-ing and vexatious "hunting for law," to use the forcible expression of Col Kelsay, the work has been [illegible] down to the clean law. But the work will not be ready for the public for several months yet, probably not before December, as no paper has yet arrived from the East to finish the work, and as we have waited this long, we hope the State Printer will not commence the work again, until paper equally as good as that already used shall have been received.—Oregon Statesman Sept 4th.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO SEPTEMBER 6

Georgia Matters—View of the Situation—Attack on Gen. Wilson, etc.

New York, Sept. [illegible]—The steamers H[illegible] and [illegible] bring Savannah dates to the 1st of August.

The Savannah Herald learns from a gentleman that the [illegible] taken to [illegible] the approaching [illegible] of cut and cut [illegible]

[illegible]

The Macon (Ga.) papers contain an account of an attack by [illegible] on Maj. Gen. Wilson. The [illegible] them [illegible] captured the other.

New York, Sept. [illegible]—The Savannah correspondent says that the Georgia Central Railroad is [illegible] Savannah [illegible] large quantities of [illegible] warehouses. Everything is encouraging for the thorough revival of this important traffic as soon as the railroad is restored. Additions have been made to the line steamers running between Augusta and Savannah, the new lines between Havana and Savannah being established at Hilton Head. The commercial prosperity is not so great [illegible] sequently, much of the traffic has been limited elsewhere.

There was little excitement in political topics.

Washington News—Pardon Seekers at the President's Mansion, Etc.

Washington, September [illegible]—It is not believed here as stated in English journals that the President has invited John Bright to visit the United States as the guest of the Nation. Certainly the Navy Department has no knowledge that the [illegible] or any other vessel has been designated to bring him to this country. The [illegible] two or three months ago was placed in the European squadron. It is not at all probable that she will return hither.

The President recently pardoned applicants for release from the $20,000 clause residing in Richmond, about thirty, there received clemency two months ago.

Intelligence from Texas is to the effect that there will be no trouble whatever in that State in the work of reconstruction. Information from other Southern States is alike favorable. The Provisional Governors are represented as doing all in their power to conform to the views of the President of the United States on that subject.

The receipts of the Internal Revenue Bureau to day reached four millions two hundred thousand dollars, being one million seven hundred and sixty eight thousand dollars greater than the receipts of any former day.

There was a perfect avalanche of pardon seekers at the Presidential mansion to day. A greater number of Southerners are here for this purpose than was ever known before. Fully three fourths of the President's business hours are taken up with the considerations of petitions for pardon.

Commodore John Collins, long of the United States Navy, died at North Conway, New Hampshire, on the 2d inst., where he was visiting.

Treatment of Negroes South.

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. [illegible]—Judge Catron, who has returned from an extensive trip through the Southern States, says that cruelty to the freedmen, and the number of homicides among them committed by whites, are increasing to a fearful extent, especially in places where troops are being withdrawn. The Judge has a copy of the Southern Sun which says that if the Yankees are alarmed at the killing of a few hundred niggers in States where they have the protection of Yankee troops to a certain extent, what will be their alarm after the departure of the military forces and the readmission in the Union of those States as sovereign powers? We will then have a complete organization of militia in each county which will give the Government a standing army which can bid bold defiance to the world.

From South America.

New York, Sept. [illegible]—Advices from Port Au Prince to the 15th of August, state that the insurrection which was intended to aid the rebels at Cape Haytien has been promptly suppressed by the Government. President Geffrard sent a commission to examine into the condition of the army of Cape Haytien. The members of the Commission returned a favorable report. They also advise that in order to spare useless effusion of blood the rebel stronghold should not be attacked but strongly invested and bombarded so that the rebel garrison may receive no succor from outside. Seven steamers and three sailing vessels are at the command of the Government to render the blockade effectual. President Geffrard was about to visit the northern part of the island. News of the revolution in San Domingo are confirmed by way of Hayti.

Fortress Chattanooga.

New York, Sept. [illegible]—The Herald's Chattanooga correspondent says: Since Colonel W. H. Gaw, 16th Colored Infantry, took command, the post, the Augean stable, has been renovated. The arrest and confinement of several officers for drunkenness and the promulgation of an order forbidding the sale of liquor to officers and soldiers have had salutary effect. As Chattanooga is one of the five permanent Fortresses it is eminently desirable that a strict order and military discipline should at once be inaugurated and that vice in every form should be discouraged. This Colonel Gaw has done. There are now stored in this city about seven millions worth of stores belonging to Government. Measures are being taken to secure them against fire.

Rebel Bonds in England.

New York, Sept. 4th.—The agents for the rebel bondholders in London have issued [illegible] A meeting of the bondholders will [illegible] Monday the 4th [illegible] to consider their [illegible] the Government of the United States [illegible] the Government of the Confederate States is deemed expedient to appoint a committee to collect rates and interest and generally to take steps as may be thought advisable [illegible] from bona fide bond holders may in the mean time be made to the under signed.

(Signed) [illegible] & Black, Sole Agents for the Bond holders.

Commenting on this the London Star, Aug. 21, says there is in international law no authority to [illegible] a rightful government is bound to assume debts contracted in aiding the overthrow [illegible] The combination of Confederate bondholders are not debtors [illegible] process of law which [illegible] the disagreeable duty of paying the debt. Unfortunately however the debt has disappeared [illegible]

The United States Government claims all the [illegible] which they claim the [illegible] the Confederate Government now in this country. If such [illegible] a court of law in England the Judge cannot [illegible] favorably in the claims of the bondholders [illegible] with a [illegible] contravention of the Queen's proclamation.

[illegible] A CAPITAL EDITOR.—The editor of [illegible] has recently left the Capital and paid Portland a visit. He indulges in the following remarks [illegible]: "At Portland we found [illegible] of the Emporium busily engaged in mending their ways," which Christian duty they have long and sadly neglected. We have heard it stated [illegible] the past winter that to allege the impassable [illegible] of Front street [illegible] on the sidewalks, and upon [illegible] we believe the statement [illegible] of the judge who allowed such a [illegible] and much less ought [illegible] to become a city with any prosperity without not only making a good lasting [illegible] of paved roads in the town but also from the [illegible] into the country from which the trade [illegible] blood of the place, is expected to be received. [illegible] of real estate in Portland the present expenditure in constructing a good pavement [illegible] street [illegible] that they can [illegible] and yet we hear a the best [illegible] of some lot owners who are endeavoring to tie up the [illegible] of the city authorities and prevent them from [illegible] the money necessary to complete these much [illegible] Such a policy may be penny [illegible] but it is certainly "pound foolish." [illegible] at a particular place and not by their own [illegible] energy or abilities [illegible] to expect the [illegible] poor mechanics and laboring men [illegible] all the taxes and make all the improvements [illegible] make them millionaires. [illegible] that if any [illegible] it would find its best [illegible] Portland. [illegible] of the new and substantial buildings [illegible] in different parts of the city but yet [illegible] matters look as flourishing as they did [illegible] is reported everywhere [illegible] a great [illegible] and trade, on this coast [illegible] It could not be expected that the same [illegible] would be manifest now that has been evinced [illegible] two or three years; one thing is quite certain [illegible] that the trade of Portland is better this [illegible] to all considerations than it is at San [illegible] or elsewhere on the western coast of the continent. The growth of Oregon and consequently the growth of Portland, is steady and substantial.

[illegible] A MAIL.—The Moguls at Washington [illegible] cut off from the balance of the world [illegible] all her individual and public interests by [illegible] totally and unequivocally the [illegible] of the United States mail south of this city between [illegible] and California. Postmaster Davis received orders [illegible] of the Postoffice Department yesterday [illegible] Stage company have it any more [illegible] made by Postal Agent Gaskill hence [illegible] matter destined for Milwaukie, Oregon City [illegible] lies dead at the Portland office. This [illegible] of affairs. So far as this State is [illegible] might as well be in British Columbia or the [illegible] Islands, so far as all that the general Government [illegible]. ADDITIONAL NEWS BY TELEGRAPH

California News

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—The election in this city to-day is progressing very quietly. There is little excitement and the vote is necessarily light. It is impossible at present to tell how the election has gone, but there is a strong probability that a portion of the Democratic ticket has been elected. Members of the Union parties have shown great apathy, and the Democrats have worked vigorously.

Judge Field yesterday rendered a decision in favor of plaintiff in the suit of George Gordon vs. the South Fork Canal Company for $78,[illegible]86 with interest from June 14th 1861 for materials used and labor furnished in the construction of certain sections of the canal, and decided that the lien should hold good against the entire canal, and not be confined to those particular sections on which the labor and material were expended.

The fourth anniversary of the Exempt Fire Company of San Francisco was celebrated on Tuesday evening by a sumptuous banquet at the Russ House. The party numbered about one hundred persons.

A private telegram from New York informs us of the sale of the American side wheel steamer Ocean Queen? 2,000 tons register, to parties in this city on private terms. She is supposed to be now on her way here.

Madame Anna Bishop was to leave New York for San Francisco by the steamer of the 14th of August. She is accompanied by Charles Lascelles, a pianist and vocalist from the Royal Academy of Music, London.

The Markets

The mining stock market is inactive and lower, the aggregate of sales at the Board footing up only $20,000.

There were sales of Legal Tender notes to the extent of $30,000 at 72½.

Coffee.—sales 100 bgs Rio in lots at 22[illegible] an advance on last transactions. Liquors.—There is a better feeling in the market for both foreign and domestic distilled, caused by an increased movement. Mustard Seed—extra choice Cal at 8[illegible] 6¼ an extreme price. We learn by telegraph that Linseed Oil has advanced to $1.50 in New York, consequent upon the failure of the flax crop abroad and has imparted greater firmness here, quotable at $2.50. Flour.—sales 3,000 hlf and qr sks local mills extra, at $5.50@5.75 ℔ bbl; also 1,600 qr sks Napa extra at the outside price. Wheat.—Market rules steady with fair demand; sales 600 sks No. 2 at $1.60, 300 do $1.62½, 1,200 do No. 1 private, 4,000 do in lots, 1.70 and 800 choice 1.75, a very full price. Barley—is without essential change; sales of 900 sks of ordinary feed at 90c@92½c; 1,600 do good 95c and 650 do choice brewing to arrive, reported $1 per 100 lbs. Oats—sales of 470 sacks at 1.12½@1.40 per 100 lbs. Hay—80 bales good, sold at $15 and 400 do private. Potatoes—under light receipts the market is a shade firmer; sales at 60c@[illegible] for Hay and 70@75c per 100 lbs for Mission. Wool—since our last report we hear of sales of 1,000 lbs fall clip at 10½@16½c and 20,000 lbs [illegible] free of burrs, 17@20c.

Cleared Sept. 6 forenoon, bark Jennette for Victoria and Port Angeles. Sailed, on the 5th steamer Del Norte for Crescent City.

California Election Returns.

SAN FRANCISCO, 10 o'clock, P. M., Sept. 6.—The returns up to this hour are very meagre. The total vote will probably foot up a little over 13,000. It is thought the Democrats have elected Shaw to the Senate, and that they have got five Assemblymen. Tubbs being on both the Regular and Independent ticket is of course elected. Cohn on the Regular ticket is also elected by a handsome majority.

From British Columbia.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Sep. 5.—At 8 o'clock last evening the Episcopal Church, a large strong wooden structure, caught fire and in a short time was almost entirely destroyed. The valuable chime of bells attached to the Church was saved. The loss is estimated at six thousand dollars. The insurance is doubtful.

No mining or other news of moment.

The Collins Overland Telegraph Company's bark Clara Bell arrived here this morning from Sitka leaving that port Aug. 20th. This company's wire overland is now in fine working order for three hundred and seventy miles, and in a short time will be completed to Quinell's mouth, a distance of four hundred miles north of this place. The line is now open for business as far as Soda Creek.

Letter from Canyon City

CANYON CITY, Aug. 31, 186[illegible]

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

Since writing my last letter to you things have materially changed and again the [illegible] of this county is [illegible] by hostile Indians. [illegible] as I am reliably informed, all the horses at and about the toll gate about twenty five miles east of this place, were driven away by the savages. On the night of the 24th inst. a considerable amount of stock was stolen from Strawberry Valley about eighteen miles east of here. On the [illegible] night seven horses and about three hundred head of cattle were driven away from [illegible] within ten miles of Canyon. The cattle were captured but the prisoners [illegible] horses. I am told no [illegible] by the marauders but not seriously injured.

The field now occupied by the Indians is [illegible] valley [illegible] far from the military post at Camp Watson [illegible] urge upon the authorities the necessity of establishing more posts in this part of the State. Our resources can never be developed till this is done. The war is over now and the [illegible] from other places. RALLALLER?

CURIOSITIES OF THE DESERT.—On the Owyhee river about [illegible] miles south west of the crossing [illegible] Ruby. At a distance one might imagine [illegible] still standing, viewing the [illegible] of the most magnificent splendor, with [illegible] fluting columns [illegible] gradually [illegible] to the dust. There is a large area of country on the Owyhee covered with these mouldering columns [illegible] and some attaching [illegible] of high table mountains, altogether presenting one of the most interesting and wonderful views [illegible] seen anywhere in the land of deserts and sage brush which borders on the northern rim of the Great Basin.

In October last we passed over the road from Owyhee via Queen's River to the Humboldt and after leaving the Owyhee ferry had a continuous desert of forty miles without water. We noticed the bed of an old dry creek about midway, but found not a drop of water in it and no sign of there having been for years. When visiting the same place some two weeks ago we found in this same old creek bed a fine stream as large as the Jordan creek at Ruby, and fishes were sporting and playing in the eddies.—Idaho Avalanche.

STRANGE REPORT.—A few days ago the Sacramento Union had the following paragraph in its San Francisco telegram:

It is believed that a cargo of potatoes and fresh provisions cleared on board a sail schooner nominally for Victoria some weeks since at this port were destined for the pirate Shenandoah. The vessel has not since been reported.

PAID OFF.—Mr. Johnson, Clerk to Paymaster Marston, paid off at Fort Walla Walla, August 20th, some sixteen men belonging to Company F, First Oregon Cavalry, which detachment arrived from Lapwai, August 18th. Some of the men received six and others eight and ten months pay. The whole sum disbursed amounted to about $4,000—greenbacks.

AN AGED TOAD.—The geological world says the Leeds Mercury, will be sorry to hear that the wonderful toad, which was found embedded in a block of magnesian limestone, at Hartlepool, and computed to be 6,000 years old, expired on Friday morning. It was found in April last, and had been an aquarium at the Hartlepool Museum, and while there has attracted thousands of visitors. Its death is attributed to injuries which are supposed to have been inflicted by some visitors to the Museum on Thursday, who were excursionists from Newcastle.

SUE HAD HIM.—A curious incident in Paris high life, says the Epoque, is about to become the subject of a suit for a divorce before the First Chamber of the Tribunal of the Seine. A young husband belonging to one of the great families of France, in order to conceal his nightly absence from home, formed the idea of placing in his bed a figure with a wax head made to resemble him. The artifice succeeded for a time, but one night the lady venturing to enter her husband's room and approach the bed, discovered the trick. Hence the suit for a judicial separation.

WISTAR'S BALSAM
—OF—
WILD CHERRY!
HAS BEEN USED FOR NEARLY HALF A CENTURY,
WITH THE MOST ASTONISHING SUCCESS IN CURING
Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Croup, Liver Complaint, Bronchitis, Difficulty of Breathing, Asthma, and every affection of the THROAT, LUNGS, AND CHEST, INCLUDING EVEN CONSUMPTION.

There is scarcely one individual in the community who wholly escapes during a season, from some one, however slightly developed, of the above symptoms—a neglect of which might lead to the last named, and most to be dreaded disease in the whole catalogue. The power of the medicinal gum of the Wild Cherry Tree over this class of complaints is well known, so great is the good it has performed, and so great the popularity it has acquired.

In this preparation besides the virtues of the Cherry, there are commingled with it other ingredients of like value, thus increasing its value ten fold, and forming a Remedy whose power to soothe, to heal, to relieve, and to cure disease, exists in no other medicine yet discovered.

The unequalled success that has attended the application of this medicine in all cases of

has induced many physicians of high standing to employ it in their practice, some of whom advise us of the fact under their own signatures. We have space only for the names of a few of these:—

S. H. FINLEY, M. D., San Francisco, Cal.
E. BOYDEN, M. D., Exeter, Me.
ALEXANDER HATCH, M. D., China, Me.
R. FELLOWS, M. D., Hill, N. H.

W. B. LYNCH, M. D., Auburn, N. Y.
ABRAHAM SKILLMAN, M. D., Boundbrook, N. J.
H. D. MARTIN, M. D., Mansfield, Pa.

The proprietors have letters from all classes of our fellow citizens, from the halls of Congress to the humblest cottage, and even from beyond the seas; for the fame and virtue of WISTAR'S BALSAM have extended to the uttermost bounds of the earth, without any attempt on our part to introduce it beyond the limits of our own country.

TO CALIFORNIANS AND OREGONIANS.

After October 1, 1863, all genuine WISTAR'S BALSAM of WILD CHERRY for the Pacific Coast will be used [illegible] in a new wrapper, which will bear the printed names of both SETH W. Interesting about Mormondom—The Colfax-Bross Party at Salt Lake

Mr Bowles of the Springfield Republican writes as follows under date of June 14th 1865

* * * Most picturesque of all the scenes of this day and night ride was the passage through Echo Canyon, a very miniature Rhine valley in all but the vines and storied ruin. The only ruins in it were those of feeble fortifications which the Mormons set up when President Buchanan marched his army against them, but halted and went away without attack, leaving stores of provisions, wagons and ammunition and a contempt for the government, which the Mormons have hardly exhausted yet. Early "sun up" brought us to the last station kept by a Mormon bishop with four wives, who gave us bitters and breakfast, the latter with green peas and strawberries, and then leaving wife No 1 at his home, went on with us into the city on parochial visits to the other three who are kept at convenient distances around the territory.

Finally we came out upon the plateau or "bench as they call it here, that overlooks the valley of the Jordan, the valley alike of Utah Lake and the great Salt Lake, and the valley of the intermediate Great Salt Lake City. It is a scene of rare natural beauty. To the right upon the plateau, lay Camp Douglas, the home of the soldiers and a village in itself, holding guard over the town, and within easy cannon range of tabernacle and tithing house; right beneath, in an angle of the plain, which stretched South to Utah Lake and west to the Salt Lake,—"and Jordan rolled between,"—was the City, regularly and handsomely laid out, with many fine buildings, and filled with thick gardens of trees and flowers, that give it a fairy land aspect across, the plain spread out 5 to 10 miles in width with scattered farm-houses and flocks of cattle, below, it was lost in dim distance, above, it gave way, 20 miles off, to the line of light that marked the beginning of Salt Lake,—the whole flat as a floor and sparkling with river and irrigating canals, and over looked on both sides by hills that mounted to the snow line, and out from which flowed the fatness of water soil that makes this once desert blossom under the hand of industry with every variety of verdure, every product of almost every clime. No internal city of the continent lies in such a field of beauty, unites such elements of nature's formations, holds such guarantees of greatness, material and social, in the good time coming of our Pacific des[illegible]. I met all along the Plains and over the mountains the feeling that Salt Lake was to be the great central city of the west; I found the map, with Montana, Idaho and Oregon on the north, Decotah and Colorado on the east, Nevada and California on the west, Arizona on the south, and a near connection with the sea by the Colorado river in the latter direction, suggested the same, I recognized it in the Sabbath morning picture of its location and possessions. I am convinced of it as I see more and more of its opportunities, its developed industries and its unimproved possessions.

* * * We have been taken on an excursion to the great Salt Lake, bathed in its wonderful waters, on which you float like a cork, sailed on its surface and picnicked by its shore—if picnic can be without women for sentiment and to spread table cloths, and to be helped up and over rocks. Can you New Englanders fancy a stag picnic. We have been turned loose in the big strawberry patch of one of the saints—very worldly strawberries and more worldly appetites met and mingled; and we have had a peep into a moderate Mormon harem, but being introduced to two different women of the same name, one after another was more than I could stand without blushing. In Mormon etiquette, President Brigham Young is called upon, by Washington fashion, the speaker is also called upon, and does not call—there was a question whether the distinguished resident and the distinguished visitor would meet. Mr Colfax, as was meet under the situation of affairs here, made a point upon it, and gave notice he should not call; whereupon President Brigham yielded the question, and graciously came to day with a crowd of high dignitaries of the church, and made, not one of Emerson's prescribed ten minutes calls, but a generous, pleasant, gossiping sitting of two hours long. He is a very hale and hearty looking man, young for 64, with a light gray eye, cold and uncertain, a mouth and chin betraying a great and determined will—handsome perhaps as to presence and features, but repellant in atmosphere and without magnetism. In conversation, he is cool and quiet in manner but suggestive in expression, has ideas, but uses bad grammar. He was rather formal, but courteous, and at the last affected frankness and freedom, if he felt it not. To his followers, I observed he was master of that profound art of eastern politicians, which consists in putting the arm affectionately around them, and tenderly inquiring for health of selves and families, and when his eye did sparkle and his lips soften, it was with most cheering, though not warming effect—it was pleasant but did not meet you. Of his companions, Heber C Kimball is perhaps the most notorious, his free and coarse speech has made him so. He has a very keen, sharp eye, and looks like a Westfield man I always meet at the agricultural fairs in Springfield. Dr. Bernhisel has an air of culture and refinement peculiar among his associates; he is an old, small man, venerable and suggestive of John Quincy Adams or Dr Gannett of Boston, in his style. Two or three others of the company have fine faces—such as you would meet in intellectual or business society in Boston or New York, but the strength of most of the party seems to lie in narrowness, bigotry, obstinacy. They look as if they had lived on the same farm as their fathers and grandfathers, and made no improvements; gone to the same church and sat in the same pew, without cushions, borrowed the same weekly newspaper for forty years, drove all their children to the west or to the cities and if they went to agricultural affairs insisted on having their premiums in pure corn.

* * * * * *

But the hospitality of Utah is not confined to the Mormons. The Gentiles or non Mormon are becoming numerous and influential here, and officers and soldiers comprise many families of culture and influence. They are made up of the resident officers of the Federal Government, resident representatives of telegraph and stage lines, members of eastern or California business firms having branches here, a very fair proportion of the merchants of the city. Some of the more intelligent of the disgusted and repentant Mormons swell the circle. They have organized a literary association, established a large and growing Sunday School, largely made up of children of Mormon parents, have weekly religious services led by the chaplain of Camp Douglas, conduct an able and prosperous daily paper (the Union Vedette,) and in every way are developing an organized and effective opposition to the dominant power here. These people united earnest and enthusiastic as minorities always are. [illegible] share in entertaining Mr Colfax and his party and gave them a large and most brilliant social party last night. They are not ashamed to [illegible] ur their ladies as the Mormons generally seem to be, and their ladies are such in beauty and culture as no man need be ashamed of. The enjoyment of the social entertainment of music and conversation dancing and refreshments was full and only broken by the announcement during the evening of the sudden death of the Territorial Governor Judge Doty, formerly of Michigan and Wisconsin. He has been ill for some little time but was thought to be better, when a sudden attack of his Rheumatic gout in the heart carried him off. Governor Doty has had large experience in territorial governments, was a wise, prudent and firm man, and was presiding over the delicate progress of affairs here successfully and satisfactorily. There should be consideration in the selection of his successor, for we are upon the eve of a crisis in Mormon affairs, and the solution, I think, of the Mormon problem.

MR. COLFAX AND BRIGHAM YOUNG

Mr. A. D. Richardson in a letter to the New York Tribune, gives the following account of some conversation between Mr. Colfax and Brigham Young.

Brigham Young has never called upon a stranger, whether public officer or private citizen; all [illegible] first pay their respects to him. But Mr Colfax [illegible] going to give the initial visit on Wednesday morning Brigham Young, Heber [illegible] and eight or ten other eminent [illegible] Day Saints made a call of two hours upon the [illegible] party at the Salt Lake Hotel. The conversation was long and rambling. I give a few detached portions not complete in their [illegible] but I think with substantial correctness and fairness.

Mr Colfax—How large is the tabernacle which [illegible] are building this summer

Brigham Young—100 feet by 250. It will seat [illegible]. The sides will be entirely open for ventilation during the warm weather

Colfax—We have decided to remain over next [illegible] to hear you preach. We want [illegible] more about the doctrines of your church from its highest authority.

Brigham—I am surprised that you have not learned them before. Put educated men [illegible] [illegible] It is only a new delusion, a [illegible] of religious fanaticism

Colfax—This is merely your assumption. Who are authorized to preach among you?

B—Everybody who is ordained. We set law[illegible] [illegible] all who have the gift to preach or [illegible]. I suppose we have more [illegible] among us than any other community in the world. In the congregation next Sunday I could probably call up fifty men who would all preach good sermons in as many different languages.

C—Then you certainly ought to be good talkers

B—You must judge of that. [Laughter.] If any of you are religiously inclined we shall be glad to have you occupy a part of the day on Sunday. Do not some of you preach?

C—I think not. I fear we have not any religion to speak of

B—Very emphatically;—I have

C—Then we certainly hope to hear you speak [illegible] in the Tabernacle

B—Men talk a great deal about the mysteries of God, when they know nothing about it. Religion is not displaying itself in the life. I have dealt largely with the people here of all classes, Indians and whites, Latter Day Saints and others. If I have ever wronged any man, let him come forward and I will restore it fourfold

C—That is the religion I believe in—the religion of daily life, of justice, charity and love. But, of course there is one feature of your system from which we entirely dissent, and which we do not consider religion.

B—You mean plurality of wives? We have no more delicacy in talking about that than any other topic

C—I have read in one of the old writers, St. Augustine, I think, that it is better to converse of the things about which we agree than of those upon which we differ

B—Yes, in social intercourse

* * * * *

Brigham—The rebels always seemed to me like pampered children, who, after having all the cakes and candy whistles, finally, in a pet began to kick their father and mother and declare they would set up for themselves. We, of the North always suspected them. I knew they could not sustain themselves, and now they have proved it. I have always discouraged our people from trying to find gold. It is the greatest curse to any country. Every dollar taken out by the United States has cost $100. It produces anarchy, murders, theft, vigilance committees and idleness. If we in Utah were to commit the lawless scenes which are common to all gold countries, the troops would be sent out against us at once

Colfax—If you do not dig the gold others will come in and do it for you. Why do you think God put it in the mountains?

B—That people might show just what they have shown—their own folly. If I could perform the miracle—if my faith was sufficient—I would seal up all the gold-mines, and keep them sealed.

During this desultory talk, Brigham strongly intimated that the success and prosperity of his people were miraculous. He twice repeated that they cannot be annihilated.

Yesterday we returned the call. He resides in the "President's Block," an inclosure of nearly ten acres containing the Tithing Office, Deseret News office, school house for his own children, Lion House, with a lion couchant, cut in sandstone, over the front door, Bee Hive House, which bears a bee hive upon its dome, other buildings for domestic and business uses, and ample flower and fruit gardens. The whole is surrounded by a wall eleven feet high, of bowlders laid in mortar.

The porter in his lodge or sentry box (where I think I saw a revolver hanging beside him) eyed us closely, but permitted us to pass, as we were accompanied by a leading Mormon. "President" Young with several dignitaries of the church, received us in his large airy office, with high walls, maps, photographs of prominent Latter Day Saints, a lithographic copy of Bierstadt's Sunlight and Shadow, scales for weighing gold dust, account books, desks and arm chairs.

At first the conversation was heavy and rather formal, though Brigham gave us a good deal of information about farming, etc. Nothing could be raised without irrigation; but by the application of water the soil is very productive. Corn is a more uncertain crop than the small grains, but 60 bushels to the acre is a fair yield, and 90 have been produced. He once raised 93½ bushels of wheat to the acre, 90 bushels of oats are not uncommon. Many farmers leave their cattle out in winter, but they often die from cold. Coal and iron abound, but the iron has not yet been successfully melted.

At last the discourse turned upon Poligamy and a lively, frank discussion ensued, in which all present, on both sides, took a part. Brigham insisted that experience and history, both sacred and profane justify it, and "posed" the scriptural members of our party by asking them to cite from the Bible a single direct prohibition. But when he admitted that even in Utah, as elsewhere, the births of males and females are about equal, he seemed a little staggered by Mr Colfax asking how he accounted for that fact if the Almighty designed more than one wife for each man.

Our Party—Is Polygamy a vital and inseparable part of your system?

Brigham—It is not in our Book of Covenants and Discipline. We did not adopt it of ourselves but in consonance with a revelation from God. I was ordered to enter into Plurality. (The Mormons invariably use this word instead of Polygamy—Correspondent.) So were several of the other brethren. But for the Church at large it is a privilege rather than an obligation. Abuses of it sometimes occur which it is difficult to prevent. But we can point to the highest morality. We have not a house of prostitution. I don't believe you can find four illegitimate children in the territory. You all think Plurality cannot last. Now tell us frankly how you expect it to be done away.

Colfax—Well, we expect you to have a new revelation prohibiting it. [Laughter.]

Brigham—We should not be sorry for that. If God ever so directs we shall be glad to dispense with it.

Colfax—Or there may be another solution. You may do away with it by your own voluntary action, legally, peacefully, just as Missouri and Maryland abolished slavery.

Brigham—But if we did so it would be only the beginning. You could then demand that we give up the Book of Mormon, and next our church organization.

Our Party—No, no! You would be tolerated in your faith just as Methodists, Presbyterians, and all other sects are. We have no right to interfere with your religion, only your practice when it violates the civil law.

A Mormon Elder—That infamous law against Polygamy strikes at our religious liberty and is unconstitutional.

Colfax—It certainly violates no section of the Constitution and accords with the practice of all civilized nations.

Elder—What right had Congress to enact it?

Our Party—The same it would have to interfere with a sect which, like South Sea Islanders [illegible] a human sacrifice as a religious duty [illegible] our New England ancestors should [illegible] [illegible] Thou shalt not [illegible] [illegible] in drowning them [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] witchcraft.

[illegible] The cases are not parallel. As I [illegible] where requires the taking [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] this [illegible] [illegible] atonement for all [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] entirely voluntary.

Our Party—True; but the comparison holds [illegible] [illegible] conflicts with our [illegible] morality. If you had a revelation [illegible] Abraham to sacrifice and slay your son, would you do it?

Elder—Yes, if [illegible] that it was a revelation [illegible]

Our Party—Well, just there the civil law would step in to restrain you. Now will you answer a question as frankly as we have done? [illegible] you expect polygamy to spread throughout the civilized world?

Brigham—That is known only to the God of Heaven. If we are, as we believe, our faith is the true one it will continue to grow and flourish and nothing can prevail against it. It is all in the hands of God.

Soon after the interview [illegible] [illegible] fragmentary portions of [illegible] [illegible] report the spirit and as far as [illegible] the words of [illegible] [illegible] never occurred before in the [illegible] Young. I trust he will [illegible] [illegible]

CHURCH MEETINGS IN SALT LAKE

Mr Richardson says:

In the afternoon we attended Mormon [illegible] at the Bowery, a great [illegible] with [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] without leaves supported by [illegible] the warm season it is [illegible] than any building; a good artificial substitute [illegible] which were [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] gation numbered fully three thousand [illegible] women, largely predominant. They were [illegible] but very plainly dressed. Kid gloves were [illegible] [illegible] silks and satins were [illegible] [illegible] in all their amplitude. At [illegible] the preachers [illegible] the very [illegible] pulpit. [illegible] generally [illegible] than the [illegible] [illegible]

Among the apostles [illegible] and bishops on the platform were Heber Kimball [illegible] [illegible] former Delegate to Congress [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and thin silvered locks. The sermon was by Elder Samuel Richards a native of Massachusetts, who at present [illegible] gated the Mormon [illegible] for of the gift [illegible] It was a rambling [illegible] tional discourse of [illegible] claiming incidentally [illegible] because its organization [illegible] Biblical and its [illegible] Almighty! With these [illegible] were on life and [illegible] orthodox discourses in New England. While he spoke the sacrament was [illegible] assembly, bread being distributed upon metalic plates, and water instead of wine [illegible] pitchers. Many infants at the breast were present and all permitted to quaff the water freely. The poor babies were thirsty enough, but it detracted a little from the solemnity of the ceremony. After a prayer by Elder George D Watt [illegible] "Daughter of Zion," without any instrumental accompaniment [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] pressiveness than any music which I have ever heard at religious worship. Then with the benediction the people dispersed.

My chief interest was the face of the congregation. I saw only two women who could be called comely. Both sat in the choir and one was a daughter of Brigham Young recently married. Few, if any countenances impressed me as vicious. All were plain, many extremely so. As one might expect of humble people gathered from every nation of the earth, they bore the indelible impress of poverty, hard labor and stinted living. In those faces I could read little breadth of thought or self reliant reasoning, but much more whose grave sincerity and unreflecting earnestness!

In the evening we attended the service of the Rev Norman McLeod [illegible] [illegible] ist, but all the anti Mormons [illegible] [illegible] court [illegible]. The congregation was small but [illegible] unusual intelligence embracing citizens [illegible] from Camp Douglas and twenty or thirty [illegible]. The Gentile population of the city exclusive of the soldiers, number from 200 [illegible]. This includes the merchants of [illegible] it is one of the anomalies of this anomalous community that all the Jews are Gentiles.

Revives Drooping Spirits,

LENDS STRENGTH TO THE SYSTEM

Vigor to the Mind, and is

EXHAUSTED NATURE'S GREAT RESTORER!

Its effect in cases of

DYSPEPSIA,

Loss of Appetite, Weakness, Excessive Fatigue, Sour Stomach, Mental Despondency, &c,

IS MOST EXTRAORDINARY.

It is composed of the choicest Roots and Herbs, the celebrated CALISAYA BARK, &c., all preserved in pure ST. CROIX RUM. As a gentle Appetizer and Healthy Agreeable Stimulant it has no equal.

It is sold by all respectable dealers in every Town, Parish, Village and Hamlet throughout North and South America, Europe and the Islands of the Ocean.

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS,

Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,

GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS ATTENDED this invaluable medicine renders it the most potent [illegible] ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact, it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above-mentioned and also—

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY,
LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR ALBUS,

And in every discrepancy way connected with the [illegible] or decay of the Procreative Functions. Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the

CONSTITUTION WATER,

Whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once refreshed, revivified and built up. Well may this celebrated medicine be called the

MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect, he moves with a firm step, his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom or an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active, and he goes forth regenerated, and conscious of new vigor. The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER,
INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS, AND
CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
STRANGUARY AND BURNING, OR PAINFUL URINATING,
CALCULUS, GRAVEL,
BRICK DUST DEPOSIT, AND MUCOUS
OR MILKY DISCHARGES AFTER URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a [illegible], and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. TRY IT in these cases, and you will ever give praise to

CONSTITUTION WATER.

Males or Females,

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back, and through your hips? CONSTITUTION WATER will relieve you like magic.

ALLEN'S
LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most [illegible]) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle
